

Company rules (often structured as a Code of Conduct or Employee Handbook) are formal guidelines that outline workplace behavior, legal responsibilities, and operational procedures. They protect both the employer and employees by ensuring a fair, safe, and productive work environment. [1, 2, 3

- Code of Conduct: Establishes ethical standards, professional decorum, and behavioral expectations

- Attendance & Punctuality: Defines official working hours, check-in procedures, and rules for requesting time off

- Health & Safety: Details workplace hazard reporting, emergency protocols, and the use of safety equipment

- Technology & Data Use: Controls the use of company computers, internet browsing, and internal information security

Equal Opportunity: Prohibits discrimination, bullying, and harassment to promote a fair work environment. [1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6

Performance and Compliance Rules

- Confidentiality: Protects proprietary company data, client profiles, and trade secrets

Dress Code: Outlines expected grooming standards and required attire or uniforms

Disciplinary Framework: Explains the exact consequences, warnings, or termination terms for rule violations. [\[1, 2, 3, 4, 5

